

What is the Bury Society?

The Bury Society is a charity run by volunteers. We encourage membership from all those who care about Bury St Edmunds' heritage, local environment and the future of our town.

- We want our town to grow and prosper, while remaining a beautiful place to live, work or visit.
- We monitor matters of local importance, often before they reach the public domain, encouraging a balance of the old and new.
- We provide a voice on issues that impact upon our local environment.

To find out more about us and what we do, visit our Facebook page or our website: www.theburysociety.org.uk

St John's Street: The Bury Society was formed in 1971 after this important area of the town was threatened with demolition.

The Bury Society is run by and relies upon volunteers who give their valuable time so that we can achieve our objectives.

Bury Society members can forward their views for discussion by our committee. If there is support for an issue the committee may then contact the relevant organisations as appropriate.

Bury Society events and The Review throughout the year provide information and opportunities for comment which can then be passed on to where they will have an impact.

Bury in Bloom is a sub group of the Bury Society and is your local campaign dedicated to promoting a greener, cleaner and a more beautiful Bury St Edmunds. It enables the Bury Society to work with a wide range of people and partners in the town. It has gained many awards since it began in 1986.
